City of Burbank Investment Portfolio Report for November 2023 Dated January 10, 2024

Dear City Council Members
Justin Hess, City Manager
Courtney Padgett, Assistant City Manager
Jennifer Becker, Financial Services Director
Joe Lillio, CFO Burbank Water & Power

This report fulfills City, Youth Endowment Services Fund, Parking Authority, Public Financing Authority, Successor Agency to the Redevelopment Agency and Housing Authority resolutions.

CITY PORTFOLIO OVERVIEW

The City must maintain $115 million in liquidity at all times (maturities within one year plus real estate taxes due from the County in April and December) to meet our projected budgeted expenditures. We currently have $187 million in liquidity, with $7 million in our account at the Morgan Stanley Institutional Liquidity Fund – Government Portfolio, $73 million in our account at the California Asset Management Program, $59 million in investments maturing within a year and $48 million in real estate taxes due in April and December.

The City Investment Pool ended November at $553 million, up from October's balance of $535 million. Market value came in at 96% in November, up from 94.9% in October. The weighted average yield of the portfolio at the end of the month is 3.25% and the total rate of return fiscal year-to-date is 3.21%.

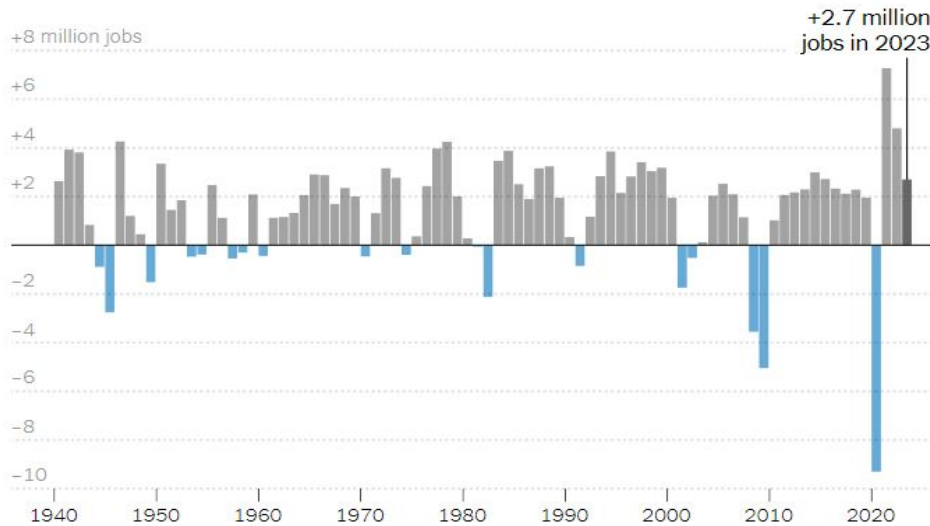

MARKET OUTLOOK

The US economy added 2.7 million jobs in 2023, exceeding expectations, and keeping the unemployment rate near historic lows at 3.7%. In addition, wage growth continues to outpace inflation, with the latest Consumer Price Index now dropping to 3.1%. While job growth has been concentrated primarily in a few industries such as healthcare, leisure/hospitality, and government, the resilience of the labor market has been remarkable given the Fed's aggressive hike in rates in 2023, while inflation fell sharply closer to the Fed's 2% target. With the market's belief in the strong potential for a soft landing, talks of a recession have subsided, particularly in earnings calls. What's even more interesting is that companies continued to add jobs even as they discussed the possibility of a recession earlier last year. Based on surveys, it seems that most CFOs turned out to be more optimistic about their own company's outlook, compared to the overall economy, likely due to knowledge of internal financial metrics and key indicators.

With lower inflation accompanied by a still strong job market, the Federal Reserve deemed it unnecessary to raise rates further during their December meeting. In addition, the central bank is now forecasting it would cut rates three times in 2024. While the market believes a rate cut may happen as soon as March 2024, many Fed officials still think rates need to be kept high enough to control growth and prices for some time. While labor supply has returned and consumer demand has become more restrained, there are still risks that could impact inflation this year. The wars in the Middle East and Ukraine continue to affect energy and commodity prices. More recently, average worldwide shipping rates for 40-foot long containers have nearly doubled as carriers avoid the Suez Canal to avoid attacks by Houthi militia in Yemen. Many ships are going around Africa instead, adding 4,000 miles and 10 days to the journey. Nevertheless, it is expected that the Fed would cut rates as inflation gets closer to its 2% target. As Fed Chair Powell said - "The reason you wouldn't wait to get to 2% to cut rates is that would be too late."

The economy gained 2.7 million jobs in 2023.
